LE.

Jumbo was born on the west coast Africa in or about the year 1861. and is consequently now about 22 rears of age. When still a little baby he was caught and carried into capivity, his first destination being Pars, where he was kept until he was jour years old. He was then purchased by the Zoological Society, of London, England, and removed to their ardens in that city. He arrived there June, 1865, when he was placed in onstant and special care ever since. He was then four feet ten inches in height, and did not weigh one-third s much as he does at present.

In addition to his great size, there are several peculiar physical feautures about Jumbo which have excited much curiosity among naturalists and have led some eminent scientists to express the opinion that he is not an lephant at all, but that he is allied to the old and now extinct mastodon pecies. In his back there is a deep ollow, where in other elephants there is a large convex curve, and his head s curved in a marked manner where other elephants are hollow. His mees, too, are not in the same places sthose of other elephants. They are and was not distinguished by any marked or peculiar changes.

The keeper then went around to see what was the matter and found Jumbo picking up the little one, which was right at his foot, so the one, which was right at his foot, and placing him carefully out of his solution. So, and placing him carefully out of his solution has fallen to 84 from 90 in July. The records stand by states:

The outcome of this enterprise will be watched with interest, and the people of the State generally will rejoice in its success, for if it meets with the expectations of its projectors it will prove the means of opening up a new field of industry in this State. The Victoria Advocate concluded a reference to the affairs as charge of Mr. Scott, and has been his follows: "The capital stock of the company is held entirely by stockrsisers in this section and is strictly a Texas enterprise. It is under the management of Captain A. F. Higgs, a gentlemen of long experience in the shipments of fresh beef, who is also the patentee of the refrigerator cars used. He has made his system a complete success heretofore, even in less favorable circumstances than present themselves in Southwestern Texas, and our people need have no fear of any less favorable result in this instance."

"The Romance and Tragedy of Pi onee Life."

Its truthful record is assisted by the rare descriptive powers and admirable metaphor of its author, A. L. Mason, A. M., and in his hands the always entrancing story of pioneer life becomes doubly attractive. The trials and successes of the early sottlers; their wars and treaties with the Indians; captures, es-capes, and almost miraculous recoveries of women and children; great conspiracies, which only lacked success to change the history of the world and turn backward for a whole cen-tury the course of civilization upon these shores; romance, sentiment, toil and tribulation, and gigantic achievements of a class of brave and hardy men and women, of whom their descendants can not learn enough, will probably never find a more complete and attractive record than is supplied in the work under discussion. It, is a book of 1000 royal-octavo pages printed from new type upon beautiful toned paper, and bound in neat and substantial style. Such a volume, with its attractive text and great wealth of illustration, can not appeal to purchasers in vain.
